STEAM RAILROAD TRACKS

Great Question which the People of South Washington Keep Stead-Although the feeling in South Washing-

& Petomae Railroad tracks from Virginia and Maryland avenues is general, yet the proposition is regarded with despair. It is felt that the Pennsylvania Railroad knows ton in favor of the removal of the Baltimore felt that the Pennsylvania Railroad knows it has a good thing under the present arsenent, and it is not believed that the company will allow Congress to send them to the outskirts without a great struggle. There is a disposition to deal liberally with the nailroads, however. A Chirtic reporter ascertained that a petition has been circulated in South Washington opposing the provision of the Gorman bill allowing the Haltimore & Obio Railroad Company to rundown the two avenues named. The residents say that the B. & P. is had enough; they don't want another road there. Some, however, think that it is hardly fair to grant such great privileges to the B. & P.

they don't want another road there. Some, however, think that it is hardly fair to grant such great privileges to the B. & P. and deny them to the B. & O. The solution of the problem is to be found, they think, only in prohibiting the use of the avenues to both and all roads.

The South Washington philosopher who moralized recently with The Carrie on the injury that was being done the city by the tracks running through the center of the city met This Carrie again this morning and said that, as the Morrill bill proposed a union depot south of K street and between the James Creek Canal and Seventh street, he was inclined to favor that bill and would not push his suggestion of locating the depot down at O street.

"I think the bill demands too much of the railroads, though," he said, "when it requires them to build their tracks at an elevation from the tunnel along K and Water streets to the Long Bridge. It will do to put them on a level, for some years anyway. If we demand too much we may get nothing. If the people can only once get the tracks away from Marylaud and Virginia avenues and from the reservations, I think they will be willing to make some concessions. They will be willing to have the roads run along K street on the level."

"Then you are inclined to pin your faith."

level."

"Then you are inclined to pin your faith to Senator Morrill's bill?" THE CRITIC asked.

"Well. I am to a certain extent. As I said, I don't believe in putting the railroads to an expense that is not absolutely necessary now." On interviewing other South Washing-

Sary now."

On interviewing other South Washingtonians similar views were found. One gentleman said:

"Twenty or thirty years is time enough for an elevated road. Wait till the basiness down here along K street becomes so great as to demand it before we ask for an elevated road. The main thing is to get the tracks removed from their present location. The people should unite on that. Then South Washington can grow. Why such a thing as running through the center of a large city on two of the best avenues is unheard of elsewhere. Why should it be allowed in this city?"

Mr. Daniel Donohue, of Sixth street, near I, expressed the opinion that the removal of the tracks would greatly benefit South Washington. He thought that the vacant squares on Four-and a-half street were an admirable place for the union depot. There was but a small portion of K street populated and very few would be disturbed by the cars for a long time. It would take years to build up the section through which the tracks would run. He considered it much preferable to taking two of the most magnificent avenues in the city.

The Liquor Sellers, the Police and

The Liquor Sellers, the Police and the Temperance Organizations.

To the Editor of the Evening Ortice;

The Order of Good Templars is under great obligations to The Chirlo for the many courtesies in the past, and especially for calling attention to-day editorially to the damnatic practices, so provalent in this city, of selling liquor to minors; and we fully believe, as you, that "the secondrels who, for the sake of a few dollars, sell them the liquor, should be punished to the farines extent of the law." That Judge Shell will do all he can to stop this infamous business we are certain, but without the co-operation of the police we cannot hope that even this courageous and humane Judge will accomplish much. Were it not for the minors nearly all the bar-rooms in this city would do a very much reduced business. The police force is perfectly aware of this fact, and it is perhaps for this reason that no effort is made by the police to arrest the proprietors, who, from their har and pool-rooms, cend nightly hundreds of boys recling and staggering to their homes.

One of the District Commissioners recently, before a Congressional committee, referred with pride to the fact that during last year there had not been a single conviction for selling liquors to minors in this District. The Commissioners cannot be ignorant of the fact, known to every other resident in this District, that liquors are sold at almost every rum-shop to minors. The Good Templars are auxious to act upon your suggestion that the temperance organizations should see that Judge Shell is supported and sustained in his efforts; but they are not yet ready to perform the duties for which a police force is paid and main-tained. That the noise force is paid and main-tained. That the noise force is paid and main-tained. The supported and sustained in his efforts; but they are not yet ready to perform the dittes for which a police force is paid and main-tained. That the police force is shielding bar-rooms must be as apparent to the Chief and the Commissioners as it is to the people gon-erally, and the responsibility for the constant-and lagrant violations of the law, in not only selling liquor to minors, but without license, on Sundays, during hours prohibited by law to soldiers, to drunkards and intoxicated par-sons, must and will be placed where it bo-longs.

on Sundays, during hours prohibited by law, to soldiers, to drunkards and intoxicated parsons, must and will be placed where it belongs.

The Good Templars agree with The Carric "that it is one of the hardest things in the world to conquer the appetite for drink, after it has been once formed, and if the temperance cause is to be successful, it must be by educating the rising generation. The boys must be laught that it is a crime to drink; "and, therefore, the order has established and is fostering a number of juvenile temples, where the children are receiving a temperance education, and permission has also been secured from the School Trustees to place total abstinence-pledges in the several schools of this District, whereby it is hoped to lay a foundation for a sober and useful life for the rising generation and secure to the community the full benefit of the care and expense incurred in training the children, that they might become useful members of society.

As an organization our every effort is directed to give practical direction to the temperance reformation, and we hope that the results of our labors are, and will continue to be, such as to carry conviction to the people that our methods are correct, as well as that we are thoroughly in earnest.

You are pleased to say that the temperance organizations should ferrer out the places where the law is voltated and bring the law breakers to justice. Permit me to say that the tax payers of this District and Congress keep a police force in pay for that very purpose, and if the present force is unwilling to deal with these offenders, as is clearly evident, Congress should see that the proper remedy be applied. You will remember that not long since the Good Templars presented to the District Commissioners such evidence from the court records as would, according to the Commissioners when ruling, deprive about 200 barrooms of fleener, and that licenes week, nevertheless, granted for these, although the Commissioners' such evidence from the court records as would,

Commissioners and perfect power to refuse, When the bar-room Interests are thus backed up by the District Commissioners, and are let severely alone by the police, it is not to be wondered at that the temperance organizations are called upon to come to the rescue and protect the community against the terrible ravages of the saloon. To the police and the course belong the detection and punishment of crime. It is the duty of the Commissioners to provide an efficient corps of police. To educate the people, shield and protect the young, rescue the failon and secure better laws are the works that at present claim the attention of the temperance organizations. Let every man work in his station, and as God has given him ability.

On behalf of our order I thank The Carrice for its able and insuly defense of our young against the dreadful influences of the bar-room, and I beg to assure you and your readers that in this warfare there is unlisted no more carnest and determined ageing than the God Templars, and that every practical measures for the promotion of the input rander in our young scanned to the lugar traffic flads in our your seaders of the lugar traffic flads in our your seaders of the lugar traffic flads in our your exchange of the lugar traffic flads in our your seaders of the lugar traffic flads in our your seaders.

The Treasury Solicitorship.

Assistant Solicitor Robinson will act as Solicitor of the Treasury for ten days, commencing to-day. Under a recent ruling of the Attorney-General, upon the death of an official his assistant can act for ten days by virtue of his position, and without designation. At the end of this period the President can designate the assistant to act for ten days longer, and at the expiration of that period the position becomes absolutely vacant unless filled by appointment.

THE DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

Some Suggestions About the Repub-lican Representation.

"Captain," said a reporter of THE CRITIC to a prominent Republican of this city, "who have your party determined upon as delegates to the next Republican National Convention ?"

Convention?"

"That is a difficult question to answer; but of one thing you can rest assured: No matter who they send they will not be in favor of the present Administration."

"You don't appear to take kindly to President Arthur. Why is this thus?"

"Well, I don't think you will find a Republican in this city who is not of my way of thinking, except, possibly, a few office-holders. You know," he continued, "Arthur's opinion of Republicans of this city was so poor that all his selections for our local offices were new comers, and many of them would not remain a month if we had a change of administration. Honors are easy, however, for their opinion of him as a Republican or a statesman is not of a very exalted kind. But, to return to your quostion, it looks to me as if Dr. E. A. Adams would be one of the delegates to Chicago. Dr. Adams is a progressive, active man, and as good a Republican as can be found in any part of the country. To send him as a delegate the Republicans of the District would only be doing an act of simple justice."

"There are a number of other candidates, are there not?"

There are a number of other candidates,

"There are a number of other candidates, are there not?"

"Oh, yes, and some of them are active residents of the States. I believe we should send to Chicago men who are bona fide citizens of the District. By the way, while on this subject of foreign representation, I want to say that I perfectly agree with The Chirtic in saying it was altogether out of place for the District Commissioners to send to New York for a man to act as Water Inspector of the District, when there were thousands of good, worthy men right in our midst."

Civil-Service Reform.

Civil-Service Reform.

To the Editor of The Evening Critic:

The "Man on the Avenue" in the National Republican announces that Mr. F. B. Congor, Postmaster of this city, desires to represent this District in the coming Republican National Convention, and no doubt the afvertisement is made by authority. It is usual in politics to divide its honors and responsibilities among the many of a party rather than concentrate them chiefly in one person, and under this just precedent it would seem that Mr. Conger should be satisfied with this present distinction without covering more. Then again, Congress has enacted a Civil-Service Reform haw, which is applied for the draft time to our Presidential struggles, and which seems to have been interposed between the Postmaster and the more enlarged scope of his political ambition at this time. It does not seem to consist with Givil-Service Reform for a Federal officeholder to use his offices and the smoothments in managing and manipulating primaries for the selection of delegates to nominate a candidate for the Presidency. It was the manifest purpose of the inventors of Civil-Service Reform, and of the Presidency. It was the manifest purpose of the inventors of Civil-Service Reform, and of the Presidency. It was the manifest purpose of the inventors of Civil-Service Reform, and of the Presidency. It was the manifest purpose of the inventors of Civil-Service Reform, and of the President in giving his assect to that bill, to prevent the corrupting influences of official Interference with the action of the people in managing their political affairs. The law is plain, and is laden with heavy penalties, and is it not a little surprising that this young postmaster should rush blindly into the very laws of these penalties so early in his official career?

One thing must be understood by Mr. Congress and all others honding official positions under the Federal Government at the National Capital: The people of this District are of the opinion that they should be permitted to manage thei law ablding citizens in the exercise of those rights. For these reasons they protest against the introduction into the present canwass, from any quarter, of corrupt agencies to in-fluence their action, and they do so in the name of Civil Service Revork.

Taking Advantage of Good Weather. Taking Advantage of Good Weather.

The beautiful weather of yeaterday was accepted as a bleering, and fully appreciated and taken advantage of by the people. The churches were crowded to their full capacity at each service; the walks and drives about the city were thronged with quiet and orderly persons, and Armaton, the Boidlets' Home, the points of interest up the river, etc., were visited by unusually large numbers of people.

During the aftermoon the fashionable promenades of the northwest section, of which Connecticut avenue is the most prominent, were crowded with pedestrians, among whom the younger sealety people were largely represented, and the scene was made brilliant by the bright spring tollets.

taken up and a large sum realized.

Rev. Fatherss Stack and Dougherty, of the Society of Jeans, started a mission in St. Mary's Church yesterday, which will be continued throughout the present week at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Father Stack delivered interesting and eloquent sermons, which were listened to by large congregations. Father Stack is a Virginian by birth, but has been absent for nine-teen years, and is a fine theologian. Services will be held every day this week as follows: A. m.—5:30, mass and instructions; 0:30, p. m.—Beads, sermon and bancdiction of the blessed sacrament.

Mrs. Davis, mother of Captain Enoch Davis.

Mrs. Davis, mother of Captain Enoch Davis, died at her home, in the First Ward, last night. Mrs. Charles Pulman died about 6 o'clock Saturday evening, at her home, corner of Franklin and Patrick streets. Mr. Haney, father of the late Albert Haney, died at his home on Patrick street, yesterday, He was in the 75th year of his age. Judge Keith will commence a term of the Circuit Court in this city to-morrow. The arrivals at Fishtown yesterday consisted of 500 bunches of small fish and a few herring. Should the present weather continue, the arrivals will greatly increase.

The Mite Society of Byland Chapel meet this evening to discuss church matters. On Tuesday evening an illustrated lecture, entitled "Over the Continent," will be given at the Fifth Baptist Church.

Trinity M. E. Church, which has been rebuilt and much beautified, was reopened yesterday. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Foulson, the retiring pastor, to whom the congregation are greatly indebted; Rev. L. H. Pierce, formerly pastor of the church, but now stationed at Entimore; Rev. Mr. Ball, of Washington; Rev. John Edwards, the new pastor, and Rev. Mr. Hadley, of this city. Rev. Dr. Poulson, at 11 a. m., delivered his tarewell sermon in touching words, and many were the regrets expressed at the departure of a man who has served his congregation so well. The church is a handsome structure,
